Unit 13, Lesson 1: Reading

Task 6: Reading Comprehension Read the story. Then answer the questions. Circle the correct answers.

Sam is reading a travel magazine about a museum in Paris, France called the Louvre. It says parts of the Louvre are almost a thousand years old! The king of France built a castle in Paris in 1190. Later, another king built a palace in the same place, using some of the old castle walls. For many years, kings and queens lived in the palace and added more buildings and rooms, but, in 1674, King Louis XIV built a new palace. He wanted to live outside Paris. In 1692, he began to use the Louvre as a place to show his ancient statues instead of a place to live. Now, it's a very famous art museum. There are paintings and statues from many countries. The magazine says that the museum is open every day. Sam wants to visit the Louvre's website to learn more about the artwork in the museum.

1. What is Sam reading about?
